

Robert Cremins

Lecturer, The Honors College • University of Houston • Phone: 713-743-9275 • E-Mail: rcremins@central.uh.edu

Experience

Teaching

1993–Present

- Lecturer in the Human Situation Great Books survey course, the Honors College, University of Houston, 2010-present. Dozens of lectures delivered on a wide range and ancient and modern texts. Recognition in the form of both Best and Outstanding Lecture Awards.
- Instructor in discussion class component of the Human Situation, 2010-present. Student evaluations available.
- Presenter of writing craft talks, coordinator of craft talks series, facilitator of writing workshops in the Human Situation, 2010-present. Talks based on 20+ years of experience as editor, published writer, and creator of writing skills resources.
- Director of undergraduate senior theses, committee member of thesis defense committees for the Honors College, 2010-present.
- Instructor of upper-division elective classes in the Humanities for the Honors College, 2011-present.
- English Teacher, Strake Jesuit College Preparatory, Houston, Texas, 1993-2006. Department Chair, 2000-2003. Fleming Award for Teaching Excellence, 2005.

Co-Curricular

2003–Present

- Program Leader on three Study Abroad trips for the Honors College: Ireland, 2011; Northern Europe, 2012; Britain and Ireland, 2013; Co-Leader of 2017 trip to Wales and Ireland.
- Participant in two Study Away trips (New Orleans and Texas Hill Country) organized by the Center for Creative Work, UH.
- Member of the Honors College Study Abroad/Study Away Committee.
- Coordinator of Community Service, Strake Jesuit College Preparatory, 2003-2006.
- Program Leader of Service Learning trip to New Orleans and other parts of Louisiana, 2006.
- Co-Leader of Service Learning trip to rural Yucatán, Mexico, 2005.

Education

Graduate

M.A. in Creative Writing with Distinction, University of East Anglia, United Kingdom, 1991. Mentored by novelists Sir Malcolm Bradbury and Rose Tremain.

Undergraduate

B.A. (Two-Subject Moderatorship in Modern English and Philosophy), Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland, 1990.