

Downloading and Installing Lync for Macintosh

The Lync software (or client) allows you to use your computer as a UH phone, as well as enable you to use unified communication tools.

To download and install Lync:

1. Go to the software download site: <http://www.uh.edu/software>
2. Locate, download and install version 14.x.

Known issues for Mac customers using the CX300 phone:

- no dial-tone
- phone will not ring when status is set to Busy
- when ending a call, the call might be put on Hold

For information on using Lync, see UIT document Using Lync for Macintosh.
