

Best Ethical Practices: Developing a Trauma-Informed Practice Approach

Presented by Sandra A. Lopez, LCSW, ACSW, DCSW

WHEN

Friday, June 26, 2015
8:30-11:30am

WHERE

University of Texas Medical Branch
Research Bldg. 6, 1.206 Auditorium
301 University Blvd.
Galveston, Texas

REGISTER ONLINE

www.naswtx.org/event/traumacare2015

TICKETS

$65 NASW Members
$80 Non-Members

EARN 3 ETHICS CE

Social workers represent the majority of providers working daily with people who have experienced trauma. This course will provide social workers with the knowledge and skills to most effectively counsel this client population.

After taking this course, participants will be able to: identify ethical principles related to best practice in the arena of trauma; explore trauma in its various forms and develop a framework for understanding manifestations of trauma; define trauma-informed practice; and develop practical guidelines for creating and promoting ethical trauma-informed practice across a variety of settings.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Sandra A. Lopez is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker in clinical and consulting practice with expertise in trauma and traumatic grief. She teaches an approved clinical supervision course for licensing. She provides LCSW supervision to many social workers across diverse settings and integrates a trauma-sensitive approach in clinical supervision.