About	About Episcopal Health Foundation The Episcopal Health Foundation is a new entity established through the recent sale of the St. Luke's Episcopal Health System to Catholic Health Initiatives. The Foundation supports the work of the Episcopal Diocese of Texas and has assets of $1 billion. The mission of the Foundation is to advance the Kingdom of God with specific focus on human health and wellbeing through grants, research, and initiatives in support of the work of the Diocese. Episcopal Health Foundation embraces the World Health Organization's broad, holistic definition of health: a state of complete physical, mental and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease. We will focus on improving the health of the 10 million people who live within the 57 counties of the Diocese. The following core values are guiding principles that direct our work: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Informed Action. Rigorous research is the foundation for actions and initiatives that have the potential to transform human lives and organizations. • Collaboration. The most effective use of financial resources is often discovered in ministries that go beyond the limits of individuals or individual congregations. Broadbased communities galvanized around responses to particular human needs have a powerful potential to effect real and lasting change. • Empowerment. The old adage is true: It is good to give a hungry person a fish; it is empowering to teach the same person to fish. Loving and compassionate people often need training to be effective change agents. Leadership development and training are central to empowerment. • Stewardship. Good stewardship requires careful oversight and development of the abundance that God provides. • Transparency. All actions and decisions are open to the light of public scrutiny. Secrecy and confidentiality are not the same thing. • Accountability. The results of decisions and actions of EHF are audited and measured against reasonable benchmarks. Mistakes are made. When mistakes are treated with openness and honesty, lessons are learned. Public accounting and reporting are made on a regular basis. • Transformation of human lives and organizations. The best good is good that lasts by effecting transformational changes in root causes. • Compassion for the poor and powerless.
