Professionals joining the Department of Homeland Security have a unique opportunity to build fulfilling, successful, and meaningful career paths in areas such as border security, customs, and border protection, immigration, and human trafficking.

This course introduces participants to a comprehensive study of the homeland security system at the federal, state and local levels. It will analyze the structure of the U.S. homeland security system and operational areas as well as programs aimed at minimizing the nation's vulnerability to attacks. It is designed as an intensive technical writing course aimed at developing critical thinking skills and mastering technical writing in the discipline.
