THE NEW WORLD BAROQUE and CONTEMPORARY LATIN AMERICAN FICTION

SPRING 2013

ENGLISH 8394
SPANISH 7391

THE SEMINAR WILL BE CONDUCTED IN ENGLISH, BUT SPANISH STUDENTS MAY BUY AND READ THE BOOKS IN SPANISH. LET ME KNOW IF YOU NEED HELP IN GETTING A COPY OF MY BOOK IN SPANISH TRANSLATION.

John Martin, Baroque
Lois Parkinson Zamora, The Inordinate Eye: New World Baroque and Latin American Fiction
Elena Garro, Recollections of Things to Come (UT Press has recently brought this book back into print. The Bookstore should also have it.)
Alejo Carpentier, The Kingdom of this World
Alejo Carpentier, Concierto barroco (Out of print; buy used online or search at Half Price Books. Be sure to get the English version, if that’s what you want, because both the Spanish and English versions have the Spanish title. There is now a version with the English title, Baroque Concerto, but the bookstore tells me that it is out of print, too. If all else fails, I will get you a Xerox copy, but please try to find it.)
Gabriel García Márquez, Of Love and Other Demons
Gabriel García Márquez, Love in the Time of Cholera
José Donoso, A House in the Country (out of print; buy online or search at Half Price Books)
Jorge Luis Borges, Labyrinths
Jorge Luis Borges, Selected Non-Fictions

In this seminar we will discuss Baroque aesthetics and expressive structures, and trace their evolution in modern Latin American literature. We will, of course, contemplate the visual arts as well as the literary arts.

In order to consider modern Baroque and Neobaroque literature, we must have a firm grasp of the historical Baroque. We will, therefore, spend most of the first four weeks of the semester in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. We will trace the exuberant expressive forms of the Baroque from their beginnings in Rome and their expansion through Counter Reformation Europe (especially Spain), to their implantation in the Spanish New World. We will consider the ideology of the Catholic Counter Reformation, the revolutionary new science of the time, which created a brand new sense of space and the self. We will inevitably pay close attention to certain recurring Baroque themes: life as dream, the labyrinthine world, the layered, self-reflexive nature of consciousness, science and the rise of modern skepticism, etc.

Having established a shared sense of the historical Baroque, the seminar will then move to modern and contemporary works of Latin American literature that may be understood in terms of Baroque aesthetics and thematics. We will address the term “Neobaroque” in this context, and also the term “New World Baroque” as it describes the hybrid products that are the result of centuries of cultural convergences (indigenous, European, African, Asian) in the Americas. Recent theories of the New World Baroque will be particularly useful to our reading of contemporary Latin American literature.

FIRST WEEK: INTRODUCTION TO THE COURSE

Octavio Paz, “Mexico and the U.S.”
Jacques Barzun, “The Opulent Eye”

Recommended: Monika Kaup, “Neobaroque: Latin America’s Alternative Modernity”

Images of the Mexican Baroque

ALL POSTED ON OUR CLASS WEBSITE

SECOND WEEK: MARTIN LUTHER KING DAY, no seminar

THIRD WEEK: THE EUROPEAN BAROQUE

John Martin, Baroque

This book should serve as your "handbook" on the European Baroque. Its thematic structure is very useful for our purposes, and will serve to alert you to certain Baroque literary techniques employed by the writers we will read later in the semester.

There are excellent websites on the European Baroque and Latin American Baroque, some of which are noted on our class website. You may want to google the work of individual artists, architects and sculptors discussed by John Martin. (On google, select "images" for your search.)

FOURTH WEEK: THE NEW WORLD BAROQUE

Lois Parkinson Zamora, The Inordinate Eye: New World Baroque and Latin American Fiction, Introduction, Chs. 1 and 2, Conclusion

FOURTEENTH WEEK: NEOBAROQUE FILM

"The Inconceivable Universe: The Borgesian Neobaroque in Charlie Kaufman’s Being John Malkovich," by Christopher Hyde; POSTED ON OUR CLASS WEBSITE

Discuss paper topics and otherwise catch our breath.

Please email me a description of your project before this meeting. I would like to know what you intend to write so that I can direct you toward relevant sources.

FIFTEENTH WEEK: PRESENT FINAL PAPERS TO THE CLASS

Please submit your paper to turnitin.com and bring a hard copy to class. Turnitin class number and password are noted at the top of the syllabus.

FINAL PAPER (usually connected to your class reports) is due at the final meeting of the seminar. Your paper should be between 10 and 15 pages long, but that is just to give you an indication of length. It would be very nice if you found a way to integrate a discussion of visual forms into your literary and cultural analysis. I am glad to suggest topics and to read rough drafts, if you give me at least two weeks to do so.

COURSE OUTCOMES: Students will conduct independent research and write a significant research paper, as described above, demonstrate knowledge of particular periods and/or genres, and work to acquire the professional skills required to teach at a four-year college or university.
