Persistent Identifiers (PIDs) are REQUIRED

- Federally funded grants require you to have a persistent identifier (PID)
- An ORCID iD is a persistent identifier, and meets that requirement.
- ORCID iDs are already required for the following federal agencies:
  - National Institute of Health (NIH)
  - Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ)
  - Center for Disease and Control Prevention (CDC)
  - National Science Foundation (NSF)

Auto-Updates to a Researchers Workflow

★ Enables researchers to save time, preserve metadata quality, and support transparency and trust in research information

- Connects ORCID iD to the manuscript/ dataset
- Connets ORCID iD to Datacite, SCOPUS profile, Web of Science, enables auto-update

- Embed ORCID iDs in metadata when manuscripts/ dataset is accepted, noting if iD is authenticated

- Checks metadata for authenticated ORCID iDs when assigning DOIs to new works

- Receives new work information from Crossref/ DataCite, SCOPUS, & Web of Science.
