SEVIS Transfer Procedures to Attend UH

An F-1 student who is in the U.S. with an I-20 from another school must complete a SEVIS transfer before starting studies at the University of Houston. Exception: If you are maintaining your status through another institution and taking a concurrent class at UH, you are not required to transfer your SEVIS record.

Note: This procedure does not transfer your academic credits to UH.

The SEVIS transfer deadline has to be done before classes begin at UH and with your SEVIS record in Active status. This means that you have to transfer within your 60 day grace period after completing your degree at the prior school. You cannot work on OPT and pursue a degree at UH. It is your responsibility to communicate with your prior school regarding the transfer of your SEVIS record to UH.

Failure to complete the SEVIS transfer will result in a violation of your student status and your SEVIS record will no longer be active. You must have the University of Houston I-20 by the start of classes.

STEP 1
SEND the “I-20 Transfer-In Form” to your previous/current school. Their international office will complete the relevant portion of the form and send it to the respective admissions office at UH. Remember, this form is only to provide information and it does not transfer your SEVIS record.

Make sure you also upload all other relevant immigration documents which include but not limited to: All previous schools I-20’s, passport, VISA, and electronic I-94 print out. If you did not receive information about the ISSSO check-in and orientation, it can be found here.
