

The University Center Transformation Project is largely funded by a student fee increase implemented in two significant increases. These increases are specifically to pay for the University Center Transformation, and after the debt service is paid off for both phases of the project, the University Center Fee will go back down to its current level of $35 per student per long semester.

The chart below shows the projected implementation of the University Center Fee Increases through the end of the fee increase in FY2038 (Fall of 2037). Both fall/spring semester fees and summer semester fees are listed.
