Admission Information:

Admission to the Gerald D. Hines College of Architecture and Design is a two-stage process. First, applicants must be admitted to the University of Houston. Applicants who indicate Architecture, Interior Architecture, or Industrial Design as their first choice major will then be considered for admission into the College of Architecture and Design. No additional application is required.

Applicants to the University of Houston Gerald D. Hines College of Architecture and Design must submit a portfolio, including samples of original creative work that demonstrates critical thinking or inquiry, the applicant's view of the world, and their interest for their chosen design major. Successful submissions show an alignment with the Hines College's values as a design program focusing on and emphasizing creativity and the act of making as an intentional act of inquiry and knowledge generation through multi- faceted approaches. Examples include drawings, physical prototypes, and digital software applications, among many other forms of making and artistic production.

Portfolios must include a Letter of Interest that highlights the applicant's design or artistic aptitude and interests. Because admission to the Hines College is highly selective and competitive, all applicants are advised to carefully curate and craft their portfolios as a best reflection of themselves.
