This reflects our (not solely mine) thinking on the matter. It was inevitable with the changes we are making to freshman admissions that transfer policies would follow. Many departments are looking to raise their requirements (ET of course and Economics was the latest department to submit a request to 2.25). Of course those students who have an earned Associate's Degree in the Gulf Coast Consortium will still be admissible regardless of their GPA. This is definitely going to adversely affect a lot of students who otherwise would be admissible to the university. I would say this is more of an assessment than an opinion. We will support whatever policy is mandated

Fitz

Deans:

Attached for your review and comment please find a policy that includes proposed changes to the Transfer Admissions Requirement. I would appreciate it if I could have any comments that you would like to make by May 25.

Thanks,
Elaine
