

Program Overview

The Entrepreneurship Bootcamp for Veterans' Families (EBV-F) is an education and training program offered by the Whitman School of Management at Syracuse University (<http://whitman.syr.edu>). The program is designed to leverage the flexibility inherent in small business ownership to provide a vocational and economic 'path-forward' for military family members who are now caregivers to a wounded warrior - or for the surviving spouse of a military member who gave his or her life in service to our country. The EBV-F program will integrate training in small business management, with caregiver and family issues, positioning the family member to launch and grow a small business in a way that is complementary or enhancing to other family responsibilities.

Modeled after the existing Entrepreneurship Bootcamp for Veterans with Disabilities (EBV) initiative, the EBV Families program will be offered without any cost to accepted applicants. The Whitman School of Management will launch the first EBV-F program in November of 2010. Applications will be accepted beginning in April of 2010.

The Training Experience

The EBV-F is designed to provide both practical training in the tools and skills of new venture creation and growth integrated with family and caregiver issues, and also to provide a support structure for graduates of the program. The practical elements of the program will involve three phases:

- Phase I: A 45-day, online training course, where delegates will learn the 'language' of entrepreneurship, and work toward understanding the fundamentals of business ownership in the context of their own business concepts.
- Phase II: A 9-day entrepreneurship immersion experience at Syracuse University. Participants are exposed to the 'nuts and bolts' of business ownership through a hands-on training program in entrepreneurship and small business - experiential workshops and lessons from world-class entrepreneurship faculty, representing nationally ranked programs around the country.
- Phase III: Delegates are provided 12-months of ongoing support and mentorship from faculty experts, experienced entrepreneurs, and others. This mentorship and support is positioned to help you realize your entrepreneurial goals.

Costs and Logistics

- This program is entirely free to accepted applicants. As a result of the generous support of Syracuse University - and also the private giving of individuals and corporations - we are able to cover all costs (including travel, lodging, and meals) for delegates accepted to the EBV-F.

Eligibility and Application Procedures

EBV-F applications will be accepted from:

- 1) Family caregivers of post-9/11 veterans who have been identified by the DoD or VA with a 'service-connected' disability, that now require assistance to perform activities of daily living. Specifically:
  - An eligible caregiver under this program shall be a spouse, parent, sibling, adult child, or other first-degree family member of a post -9/11 veteran with a service-connected disability, who assumes responsibility for assisting the veteran to perform activities of daily living that the individual would typically perform without assistance if not for the service-connected disability.
  - An eligible veteran under this program shall be one who has a service-connected disability as determined by the VA and/or DoD, and as a consequence of that disability requires the assistance of a caregiver to perform activities of daily living.
- 2) The surviving spouse or adult child of a soldier, sailor, airman, coast guardsman, or Marine (active, guard, or reserves) who lost their life since 2001, as a consequence of their military service.

Applying to the EBV-F

We operate on a rolling admission basis; therefore early application is highly encouraged. Applications can be downloaded from the program website: <http://whitman.syr.edu/ebv>

The EBV-F program represents a unique opportunity for military family members who have sacrificed for America's freedom to take an important step toward realizing their own freedom – economic freedom – through entrepreneurship. The EBV-F is a selective, rigorous, and intense educational initiative and accordingly, the application process itself is rigorous and selective. Successful candidates for admission will demonstrate a strong interest in entrepreneurship, high motivation for owning and managing a business, and a high likelihood of successful completion of this intense training program.
